Exceleron Integrates with U.S. Payments

Dallas, TX, Friday, February 15, 2008: Exceleron Software, Inc., the leader in prepaid applications for utility companies, today announced the successful integration of its Prepaid Account Management System (PAMS) with the PaySite kiosk platform of U.S. Payments, LLC of Tulsa, OK. U.S. Payments is recognized as the leader in self-serve payment solutions and offers a wide array of user friendly kiosks for utility payments. Through this joint effort, prepaid customers can enjoy real-time notification of payments on their account for cash, check or credit card transactions...even if the electric service provider chooses to receive batch transmissions.

"U.S. Payments is well known throughout the utility industry as an innovator in the development of flexible, easy to use payment kiosks" said Bob Crenshaw, CEO of Exceleron Software. "The integration of the PaySite platform with Exceleron's Prepaid Account Management System provides utility companies with powerful tools needed to address the growing demand for prepaid solutions."

"Our market strategy centers around offering cost effective and user friendly payment options for utility companies" said Jim Bennett, CEO of U.S. Payments. "Partnering with Exceleron Software and its portfolio of web based prepaid solutions adds measurable value for our utility customers looking for a full spectrum of consumer payment options. For the first time, electric providers considering prepaid metering services are presented with a complete package for prepaid metering and replenishment options."
