Press Release

Two Georgia Utilities to Offer Prepaid Electric Service

Dallas, Texas – March 9, 2009:

Electricity users in Georgia will soon be able to pay for their electricity consumption before they use it, avoiding surprisingly high bills and eliminating the need to make large deposits to connect service. Carroll Electric Membership Corporation of Carrollton, Georgia and Jefferson Energy Cooperative of Wrens, Georgia have announced their partnership with Exceleron Software in implementing Exceleron's Prepaid Account Management System (PAMS).

The 50,000 members of Carroll Electric and the 20,000 members of Jefferson Energy will have an attractive alternative to the traditional 30-day postpaid billing environment, thanks to the web-based PAMS platform. Consumers who opt for the prepay option can access their daily usage and account balance information via the phone, internet, or text messaging. Account holders can make payments whenever they like, selecting one of many convenient payment options.

"PAMS allows utilities to offer very cost-effective prepaid services without needing to modify their existing systems or equipment." says Jeff Severs, chief operating officer of Exceleron Software. "Our software fully integrates with existing billing and meter-reading systems, so utilities don't need to purchase any additional hardware, software, kiosks, or in-home display units."

About Exceleron Software

Exceleron Software, a software development company based in Dallas, Texas, has more than ten years experience in the prepaid industry from a development, member services, and marketing standpoint. Having first entered the prepaid industry through its development of a total prepaid alternative for telecommunications providers, Exceleron turned its efforts to applying this same knowledge to electric service providers in 2004.
